INTRODUCTION. I Sit down to write a little treatise, which will perhaps subject me to abuse from the self-righteous, to misrepresentation from the hypocritical, and to reproach even from the honestly prejudiced. Some may refuse to read it; and some will misconceive its tendency. I would have delayed its publication had the choice been permitted me, until the public was better prepared to receive it: but the enemies of reform have already foisted the subject, in an odious form, on the public; and I have no choice left. If, therefore, I shock the honest prejudices of any, let them bear in mind, that the occasion is not of my seeking. The subject I intend to discuss is strictly physiological, although connected, like many other physiological subjects, with political economy, morals, and social science. In discussing it, I must speak...
