

Enjoying Research from Canada to Argentina: Autobiography of a Biomedical Investigator (Paperback)

By Christiane Dosne Pasqualini

Createspace, United States, 2014. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . One often wonders how much of life is predetermined and how much is due to chance. Without a doubt, genes play a role in determining a vocation but the actual path we tread depends on subjective decisions and when chance steps in, we can make the most of it. By choosing between two possible paths -taking one and rejecting the other- destiny is forged. As I beg in this the story of my life, I wish to emphasize how the different paths I have taken, have given me very particular satisfaction. I have always liked and enjoyed my life. My story covers a period of more than ninety years during which many important cultural and scientific changes have occurred. I have been both a spectator and a participant in the profound changes in the role of women in society and in science. Born in France, and raised in Canada, I eventually took up Argentine citizenship. As a result I was exposed to three well-defined cultures: French, English and Argentine. After falling in love with Argentina, I fell in love with an Argentine, Rodolfo...

READ ONLINE
[4.99 MB]

Reviews

The very best book i at any time read. It generally does not price an excessive amount of. I discovered this publication from my dad and i recommended this book to understand.

-- Joeshp Hettinger

This publication is wonderful. It really is rally interesting throug reading period of time. I am just very easily will get a delight of reading a published book.

-- Roma Little