On the Vision of Cameos and Intaglios. The beautiful experiment of converting a cameo into an intaglio, and an intaglio into a cameo, by monocular vision, is well known. In 1825 I had occasion to investigate this subject, and in January 1826 I published an account of my observations, with an ample notice of the previous labours of other authors. Mr WHEATSTONE has ingeniously connected this optical fallacy with the union of dissimilar images on the retina, though he does not refer it to this union as its cause. After quoting my previous explanation of the illusion, he makes the following observations upon it. These considerations do not fully explain the phenomenon, for they suppose that the image must be inverted, and that the light must fall in a particular direction; but the conversion of relief will still take place when the object..
