Pursuant to a congressional request, GAO discussed the cost of and proposed changes to the Census Bureau's planned 1995 Test Census. GAO noted that: (1) the 1995 test census is crucial for determining the fundamental changes that are needed for the 2000 Decennial Census; (2) the Bureau may be able to increase its operational effectiveness, improve census accuracy, and contain costs by evaluating new statistical methods; (3) the Bureau plans to work with the Postal Service to evaluate and update its address lists; (4) the Bureau plans to increase its use of letter carriers to identify vacant and nonexistent housing units; (5) the Bureau could reduce the cost of following up on nonrespondents by identifying vacant and nonexistent housing units; (6) although the Bureau's new statistical method is designed to improve the accuracy of the census count by reconciling the results of original census counts with data obtained from a sample of households, it presents several operational challenges; (7) by sampling 33 percent of nonrespondents, the Bureau may be able to improve the overall accuracy of census counts; (8) the Bureau...

Extensive guideline! It's this sort of very good go through. I have got read and I am confident that I will gonna read through once more once more in the future. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
