The present Report completes the survey of suitable education for young persons up to 18 years of age, and makes certain suggestions for further education. Your Committee have borne in mind the importance of preserving the position that education should develop the individual in all desirable directions: not aim merely at producing technical ability. They recognise clearly that whilst character is of fundamental importance to everybody in the industry, technical instruction though it may be of advantage, is not necessary for each individual. The first question within the scope of this Report appeared to be: - Should the general education of the part time compulsory Day Continuation Schools for young persons up to 16 years of age be supplemented by voluntary education in the evening, and if so, what provision should be made for such supplementary education? It was represented to the Committee that the recruit to an industry is likely to be led readily to take an intelligent interest in the industry: he or she is disposed to want to know about operations or processes which are or may be within the scope of his or her occupation. This is particularly...
